

The Commission recently published a report from the Commission's Expert Group on electricity interconnection targets. This report highlighted a number of recommendations, including the need for improved market functioning and a stable regulatory framework. The report also highlighted the need for a holistic view on energy infrastructure development using harmonised energy system-wide cost benefit analysis.

Please find the link to the report here :

<https://ec.europa.eu/energy/en/topics/projects-common-interest/electricity-interconnection-targets/expert-group-electricity-interconnection-targets>